

CEEPCO Contracting – A Leader in Construction Consulting

CEEPCO Contracting is a consulting firm that provides their clients with solutions for their major building and renovation projects. The firm is based in Silver Spring, MD, and was established in 2003 by Harold R. Charles who still serves as the firm's president. Since CEEPCO Contracting's founding, the company has grown steadily due to a service philosophy that emphasizes state-of-the-art engineering techniques to achieve client goals. CEEPCO Contracting has also participated in a variety of successful projects, including military renovations like that of the DC Air National Guard at Andrews Air Force Base and civilian upgrades like that of the Postal Square Facility. In its efforts to support clients with unique needs, CEEPCO Contracting retains a professional staff with diverse technical skills. For instance, the company employs engineers and architects alongside laborers, such as carpenters and electricians. This means that CEEPCO is able to help clients flesh out their project vision, as well as successfully execute said project.
